XMAS VILLAGE TO

For the information of all who do not live in the vicinity of the Capitol, Patchettville is a village that sprung up overnight in the parlor of the home of Samuel C. Patchett, an employe of the Bureau of Standards, at 222 Second street northeast.

When interviewed at his office last night, Master Samuel C. Patchett, jr., the six-year-old mayor of the little hamlet, admitted sadly that the town WEST VIRGINIA.

Causes Consternation.

The decree of the city council caused consternation among the juvenile population in the vicinity of Second and C streets northeast, who have been constant inhabitants of Patchettville since its establishment on Christmas eve. There was some talk last night of making an appeal to the city council to extend the life of the city other week, but Mayor Patchett expressed the belief that an appeal would not be heeded. He said the city council informed him that Santa Claus would frown upon an extan-sion of the time limit. Through the lawyer-like pleading of their mayor, the petitioners obtained a promise from the city coun-cil, however, to rebuild Patchettville on a more elaborate scale next year.

Beautiful Village Patchettville is a beautiful little village of trees and lawns. It exand twelve feet east and west of a towering Christmas tree. It contains eighty-four feet of street and side walk. Through the center of it runs a river full of real live fish. Two drawbridges cross the stream, from which number of residents were fishing last night.

Two hundred soldiers on their way home from the border were march ing through the main street of Patchettville just as a representative fro The Times arrived to interview the mayor. According to an estimate by Mayor

Patchett, there are 100 trees, 100 tele-graph poles, 50 houses, a town hall, and an amusement park in Patchett-ville. It took the city council just twenty hours to erect the entire village, the mayor stated.

Kansans Protest Taking of Life by Federal Government.

Kansas does not want the United States Government to do something within the State domain that the latter itself for years has declined to do. Willie White, a negro, is sentenced to be banged at Leavenworth, Kan., on Sunday, January 14. White was convicted of killing an associate
